

New Language Courses now available from FutureLink Home Study!

French Italian Japanese Russian

Now you can learn one of these exciting languages on your own schedule, whenever it's convenient.

All it takes is a computer, desire and commitment. Using software and workbooks by the world renowned Rosetta Stone language learning system, you learn actively and quickly, at your own pace. The system provides constant feedback so you'll feel confident in your ability to speak, listen, write, and read your new language accurately.

Begin with Part I, which you may borrow for up to six months. When you return Part I, we'll send the second and final part of the course. Your personal computer must have the compatible system requirements, so please review the information provided on this flyer before ordering a course.

After you place your order, FutureLink will send you a letter of agreement, which you must sign and return to receive the requested materials. This is to assure that you understand that you are borrowing the software component of the course material and intend to return it upon the due date. We ask that you sign the form and fax it to our office to receive the requested materials.
