Question 1

How mature is your CPL capability?

The PLA Boost: CAEL Study Results

- Adult students with PLA saved an estimated $1,500 - $10,200 earned an average 17.6 more course credits than adult students without PLA.
- PLA is associated with higher completion rates for adult students of color, low-income adult students, and adult students across the spectrum of academic performance.
- PLA saved an average between 9-12 months of time for adults seeking undergraduate degrees with 12 PLA credits.
- Only 11% of adult students use PLA; this is even lower for black and low-income students

PLA boosted completion rates for key adult student groups

The Equity Paradox

“Only 11% of adult students use PLA; this is even lower for black and low-income students”

Black and Hispanic students with Pell Grants show the largest completion gains, radically reducing the gaps.

Factors may influence CPL participation

Providing opportunities for CPL can be a key tool for improving equity and raising retention and completion rates generally

Institutions interviewed for this deeper exploration offered some possible factors that could explain the PLA/CPL disparities or Black and/or lower-income adult learners in our sample:

- Cost: PLA/CPL related assessment fees are not covered by Pell Grants or other federal financial aid.
- The amount and nature of outreach, marketing, and support: Adult learners may not be hearing about PLA/CPL at the right time, or they may need additional encouragement and support.
- Adaptivity of institutional policies and processes: Prevailing PLA/CPL opportunities may be focused on a limited set of learners' labor market experiences or programs of study.
- Individual adult learner self-confidence: Some adult learners may have lower confidence in themselves as learners, leading them to believe that PLA/CPL does not apply to them.

Question 2

What CPL practices do you employ at your institution?

The Future of PLA: Emerging Best Practices

Articulate with Intention

Institutions need to find ways to generate credit opportunities for more and more diverse student populations.

Certification cross-walks and other efforts to build credit in response to external learning should take into consideration the accessibility of the source object.

Sophia provides a readily accessible and extremely affordable alternative to more-expensive opportunities a learner may have to see their learning formally assessed.

CPL Mobility

Institutions must work towards establishing policy and practices that will enable earned CPL to move seamlessly between institutions during a transfer.

CAEL community of practice established to discuss challenges, develop strategies, and share best practices.

Question 3

How do you plan to enhance your CPL program?
